

Internet course on Surgical Infections

Organized by the Surgical Infection
Society of Europe

The aim of this Course is to update surgeons and other physicians on surgical infections

The program will cover the most important aspects and topics of surgical infections: microbiology, different types of surgical infections, risk factors, surgical infections at ICU and the prevention and treatment of postoperative infections.

The chapters have been written by selected experts in the different fields of surgical infection.

Authors (by chapter order)

D. Fry; O.D. Rotstein; P.S. Barie; J. Weigelt; J.S. Solomkin; M. Cainzos; D.H. Wittmann; M. Cakmakci; J.A. Asensio; H. Wacha; D. Voros; M.A. Malangoni; R. G. Sawyer; R. Függer; J. M. Culebras; U. Schöffel; W. Haupt; C. Emparan; J. Marshall; L. M. Napolitano; R. V. Maier; M.A. West; E.A. Deitch; A.O. Aasen; A. Pollock; D.J. Leaper; I. Sayek; P.O. Nyström; L. Dominioni; K.W. Jauch; S.E Wilson; S. Geroulanos; T. Hau; A. Nespoli and J.L. Meakins

The whole Course is internet-based

Access

The course is accessible through the official SIS-E web site www.sis-e.org

Schedule

The Course will start in January 2006. Course registration will be open January 2nd 2006.

However, participants are allowed to register until the 15th of December 2006.

Cost

The Course is free of charge for members of the SIS-E and SIS.

Non-members will be charged 100€.

Precise information on how to make the payment is available on the SIS-E web-site.

Diploma

At the end of the Course, participants who have achieved 70% correct answers in the test evaluation will receive a diploma from the Surgical Infection Society of Europe (SIS-E).